from the university this past year were significantly fewer, showing an almost 20% decrease.

Provost Bruce also shared a snapshot of graduation rates and degrees awarded. The data indicated that last year we awarded 1,824 Bachelor's degrees, which was lower than the past few previous years, due to the fact that we had much smaller entering freshmen classes four, graduate programs that has produced more than a 25% increase in applications.

Provost Bruce also provided data showing that Tennessee Tech's rate of first-time freshmen completing at least 30 credit hours during their first full year at the university has increased to 40% – far outpacing the state and national average of universities participating in the study. Provost Bruce attributed this, in part, to Tech's flat-rate tuition model, implemented before the start of the 2020 - 2021 academic year and how we responded to COVID.

Center and noted that Intercultural Affairs' mentoring program has seen a 30% increase in mentee participation year-over-year. Dr. Polk-Johnson concluded with a report on efforts to maintain student safety on campus, equiding the cost recoggment trainings for faculty and that Charles was attack that we have importance of faculty from all disciplines who obtain external funding for their creative work and scholarly endeavors, the vast majority of which involve working with students. He shared the four named endowed faculty positions and mentioned the need to increase these positions to retain and recruit outstanding faculty and bolster externally-funded research.
